

Adam Hantman
Acting Director
Office of Europe and Asia, Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs
U.S. Department of State

Adam Hantman is a career U.S. diplomat currently serving in the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs, overseeing U.S. foreign assistance programs involving transnational crime, counternarcotics, law enforcement, and related issues in partner nations across Asia and Europe. Other assignments include Vancouver, Canada; Ankara, Turkey; Washington, DC; Baghdad, Iraq; Bangkok, Thailand; and Shenyang, People's Republic of China. Prior to joining the U.S. Department of State, he worked at the Henry L. Stimson Center, a think tank in Washington, D.C., where he focused on security issues in East Asia. He holds an MPhil in China Studies from Oxford University and a BSFS from Georgetown University's Walsh School of Foreign Service.