

Cedric Kenney is a McCain Fellow in the Office of the Undersecretary of Defense for Policy, where he serves as Country Director for Australia and Oceania. Prior to joining the Department of Defense, Cedric worked at Beacon Global Strategies, a national security consulting firm with a focus in emerging technologies. In this capacity, he briefed private sector leadership on national security issues impacting their business model and performed in-depth studies to inform client decisions. Prior to joining Beacon, Cedric served as a research assistant at the RAND Corporation, where he co-authored reports on the U.S. Department of Defense's posture for artificial intelligence and autonomous systems, provided open-source intelligence services to federal agencies, and traveled to the Indo-Pacific region to support contingency planning efforts.
